Spirit of life, known to us by many names, we begin this day with thanksgiving for both the roots and the wings of our service in this Senate.

We give thanks for our ancestors, women and men of all colors and many ethnic heritages, whose courage and insight made it possible for us to gather this day. We pray that we may be worthy of their sacrifices.

We give thanks for those who came before us in the work of this body, departed Senate members and those who challenged them within our democratic process, out of a shared passion for the common good.

We give thanks as well for the inspiration we find in our daily lives, here and at home, that reminds us why we came here, those individuals and constituencies for whom we labor, and whose future we seek to assure.

May these roots and wings ground us and uplift us as we do our work, and may the noblest teachings of the faiths from which we come guide us on our way this day, and always. Amen.
